INTERNET:

Bexar County:

VIA has buses located around certain San Antonio and Northside ISD neighborhoods to provide mobile Wi-Fi to students.

Harlandale ISD has set up similar Wi-Fi zones for its students. A full map of Harlandale’s Wi-Fi zones can be found here.

North East ISD announced that elementary campuses will now be equipped with free Wi-Fi access points for students. All district-owned devices will automatically connect when in range, and personal devices can also be connected if students log in as guests.

The AT&T Center and Bibliotech are offering ways students and their families can access the internet for free. The internet will be available from 8 a.m.-7:30 p.m. daily in Lot 3 of the AT&T Center, according to a news release. People can connect to the internet by selecting the “spursgive” Wi-Fi network.

San Antonio Public Library has made free Wi-Fi available outside of 28 of its 30 locations daily from 7:30 a.m.-10:30 p.m. in an effort to serve those who do not have reliable broadband access at home. Molly Pruitt Branch Library and Briscoe Portal at the Briscoe Western Art Museum are not included in this initiative.

Two San Antonio Girl Scouts troops are offering free wireless internet from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. each day: Sally Cheever Girl Scout Leadership Center: 811 N Coker Loop; and West Side Girl Scout Leadership Center: 5622 W César E. Chávez Blvd.

Blanco County:

GVTC is providing free internet access at the GVTC central office of Blanco across the street from Blanco Elementary School.

Comal County:

Comal ISD dispatched seven buses with Wi-Fi signals that are parked at designated locations within the district. The district has also distributed 124 personal Wi-Fi devices for students and 1,900 laptops to families who otherwise would not have technology in their homes.

GVTC is providing free internet access at the Community Resource and Recreation Center of Canyon Lake, Habitat for Safe Seniors, The Hope Center and Provisions Outreach.

Gonzales County:

GVTC is providing free internet access at Gonzales Christian Assistance Ministries.

Kendall County:

GVTC is providing free internet access at Hill Country Family Services, Champion High School, Fabra Elementary School, Boerne High School, Boerne Middle School North and Kendall Elementary school.
